Acting in line with the goal of fulfilling its environmental responsibilities, our Company provides CDP Climate Change and Water Security Reporting.

Our company has received a Supplier Engagement Rating (SER) in addition to its climate change score by fully answering the CDP Climate Change survey.

In 2021, Aydem Renewables' rating has increased to "A-" Leadership Level as a result of the Supplier Engagement Rating (SER), in which CDP evaluates the supplier relations, purchasing organization, supply chain emissions, governance, targets and value chain engagement performance of organizations on climate change. "A-" Leadership Level in 2021 is higher than "B-", the Renewable Energy Generation Sector average, "B-", the European Regional average, and "B-", the Global average. In addition, "A-" Leadership Level is the highest degree received in the power generation sector in our country in 2021.

CDP is an international non-profit based in London, that works to transform the way the world does business to reduce the negative impacts of climate change and protect our natural resources. CDP has been working as an intermediary for publicly held companies to report to their investors on how they use natural resources and the natural capital, how their activities influence regeneration of limited resources and how they manage the risks in this field.
